

GABRIOLA COMMONS COORDINATING COUNCIL
NOTES OF MEETING – November 5th, 2019

Facilitator: Deb Ferens

Notes: Covenant Team

Present: Jinny H., Nancy H. P., Michelle B., Bob A., David L., Monica T., Patrick R., Judith R., Maya R., Linda St. C., Stephanie-Marrie, K. Louise V.

1. Opening – Deborah began the meeting at 7:00pm with introductions. An acknowledgement of the honour & privilege of meeting on unceded Snuneymuxn First Nations land was made with an invitation to expand the acknowledgement. The recent historical B.C. legislation to honour First Nations people in alignment with the United Nations Indigenous Peoples rights was added.
2. 20 minute discussion – Review the format of teams/task forces/etc. given the current context of many groups.
 - i. Would not include a discussion of the Commons' basic values & principles
 - ii. Could include discussion of “organizational ethos” – “how we do things around here”This is an ongoing discussion. Suggestion made for two rounds sharing both positive and negative/ inspiring and challenging aspects of team work. Comments:

Positives:

- structural flow of the commons works in a clear way
- progressively better regarding communication and values with example that the intention toward shared responsibilities, stewardship and horizontal, shared knowledge
- blown away by the commons, dedication, organization, looking forward to being useful
- Commons is flexible enough to include partnership work for example the Namaste Commons farm project
- strength in organizational structure as it is understood how it fits into larger structure
- strength in being part of the larger global commons initiatives
- booking team breakthrough example of validating deeper understanding of stewardship and governance
- inspired by how much gets done at the commons
- people staying present in spite of challenges to vision and governance
- not just a meta project but we actually get things done
- strength in the consensus model is that we have to take time to listen, to be heard and consider carefully what is being recommended
- the magic of the vision is felt as soon as you step on the land
- exciting that we have historical zoning as a community commons
- “when the seeds are planted, there is no rush, it will grow...

Negatives:

- how we communicate with wider community
- how long it can take to get approval for decision
- gaps in communication internally about deeper and bigger issues
- struggle and work with diversity of things
- slowness in moving forward though that can be a positive thing
- consensus as a danger of becoming tribal
- need sense of direction coming from a stewardship plan that can take us out of team mandates and cross over from defense of territory and competition
- discomfort with overlaps and gaps
- learning to value the process

- challenge of each team establishing their mandate and endorsements from other teams
- mandates as institutional pressure
- keeping things integrated, can be set in our ways – “professional retirees”
- difficult and important position of the Commons being situated between the state and corporate mind and work in the center of community
- some teams are not working or inactive

3. Possible topics for future 20-minute discussions

Suggestion: Review response from teams to the proposal (attached below) from Islands Future and Empower Gabriola Co-op for the Commons to provide charging stalls under a new Hydro initiative

4. Reports

Commons Communication Team Report - Jinny Hayes - November 5, 2019

One in-person meeting since our last report. - Next mtg: Nov 26 at 11.15

1. Commons image/logo. Tim Gambrell attended part of the mtg to learn our recommendations from teams' input and results of the brainstorming session. He subsequently submitted a modified image to the team (circulated and attached), and the team decided to run with this for a couple of years as a trial. It beautifully captures "where land and people meet", can be rendered in any colour combination, and is ideally suited for letterhead, website, T-shirts printing and adverts, etc.
2. Website. After significant work and much frustration using WordPress to build a website for our complex Commons needs, the team supports Jinny in deciding to employ a professional to complete the technical work. We have consulted 3 local experts and are in the throes of estimating costs and assessing expertise. More to follow ...
3. Communication and Languaging Strategies. Jan has recommended, for the sake of consistency in how we present the Commons in various media, that we have a languaging document; she has begun a draft and this will be discussed at our next meeting. In addition, we will be developing a Communication Strategy that will help us – and all teams – to present Commons info and news in a consistent manner. We will bring to Council and teams when these are ready.
4. Brochure. Uses of the Commons brochure have changed over time with increasing use of electronic as opposed to print media. As reported last Council meeting, we are considering moving to a rack card format. Primary uses for this are informing newcomers and tourists about Commons; Gabriolans need and have other means of learning about and connecting with the Commons.

An aside: the Gabriola Chamber is changing and it will soon be time to decide whether or not the Commons wishes to renew this relatively expensive membership (ref: Treasurer and Trustees).

5. Team Mandates. All teams are requested to review their mandates and submit them to Jinny: communications@gabriolacommons.ca
6. Commons Instagram Account: Jennie Shillingford has offered to take on the posting and monitoring of our account. New and past photos can be used from our renewed FLICKR site. Jinny has put her in touch with Raymond Tremblay, our FLICKR guru. Please remember to submit your photos to: FLICKR@gabriolacommons.ca.
7. Sorry, no further progress yet re: Kim Kasasian's and Heather Menzies' proposed "Infoboards". We have received their drafts, but we simply ran out of time at our last meeting. These will be informed by our new Communication Strategy.

Bookings Report to Council - Nov. 5th 2019 - Maya Ruggles

Met Oct. 25th: Bob Andrew joined us (with PMT perspective)

- A. Reviewed flow chart (tool that Bookings developed to help determine which requests for booking space are possible given our zoning - Commons Institutional and Commons Agricultural)
 - We've been using various requests to test the flow chart
 - Developed some additional wording about our zoning and charitable status, which should help deepen our understanding.
- B. Review draft mandate, which is the first step in establishing a team (one of our recommendations from the Taskforce)
 - Mandate to go to teams for feedback
- C. Much business deferred

Next Meeting: Nov 15, 2019

Kitchen Report to Council - Nov. 5th 2019 - Maya R.

The Gabriola Commons... where land and people meet

PO Box 94, Gabriola Island BC VoR 1X0

November 29, 2016

Dear members of SSHRC:

We are writing this letter on behalf of the Learning Opportunities Team at the Gabriola Commons. As a team dedicated to engaging the community in learning, we have read and strongly support the Project proposal for Intergenerational Place-based Learning for Reconciliation. We are excited by the possibilities of this research and its potential importance, locally and beyond.

About the Commons

The Gabriola Commons is best introduced by its Charter:

The Gabriola Commons is intended as a source of ecological and community well-being that exists in perpetuity for the benefit of the people of Gabriola Island and the land on which it is situated. As a source of well-being, the Gabriola Commons contributes to our sense of community, of belonging, and of our bonds to one another and the land. It draws the community in, and brings the people of the community closer to each other. It is a space for creativity and justice, for art and learning, and for fairness and openness. The Gabriola Commons demonstrates ways to enhance sustainability, to preserve ecosystems and biodiversity, and to promote equity both on this island and in the world. The land includes a number of significant natural gifts and community amenities in one contiguous property: rich wildlife habitats; a pond and wetland area; open vistas and meadows; cedar groves and forests; pathways linking neighbourhoods; a rural agricultural heritage and landscape for farming and gardening; indoor gathering places for community celebrations and events, for solitude and sanctuary, performance and festivity. ^[L]_[SEP]The property of the Gabriola Commons is a gift from an earlier generation that we in turn must pass on, undiminished and enriched, to those who follow us.” (2008, revised 2012)

The Gabriola Commons is simultaneously a place and an organization. As a place, the Commons is a 26-acre property immediately across the road from the Gabriola Elementary School. It contains agricultural land, a house used as a meeting space, a community commercial kitchen, a beaver pond, an area of Douglas Fir forest, and several other ecosystems. The Commons property is owned by the people, not by private interests or the government. It is stewarded by participants in the Commons. It is the mission of the Gabriola Commons Foundation to hold the property in perpetuity for the people of Gabriola. As an organization, the Commons is non-hierarchical and operates from a stewardship model through consensus decision-making.

About our participation as a Community Partner in the project

We imagine a dialogic and iterative process that would fully explore the Commons involvement in the research project. The Learning Opportunities Team at the Gabriola Commons looks forward to leading the Commons’ involvement. Place-based education seems particularly important when the place in question is small community in a fragile ecosystem.

Several other Commons' teams offer contexts for place-based learning of various kinds. For instance, the Covenant Team is currently completing a draft of a community covenant, perhaps the first in Canada that upholds a land-based covenant alongside a cultural component. As supplemental to the Covenant, this team is developing two documents: a Stewardship Plan and a Baseline Report. It is the governance model that brings all the teams together to steward the Gabriola Commons.

Nature of our involvement

At the outset, we anticipate the Commons’ involvement in the project in three ways.

First, we are revitalizing the Learning Opportunities Team after a short hiatus. As part of the process, we will be reworking our team mandate to guide and commit us to the broader project of Truth and Reconciliation. We will continue to forward proposals at the Commons with the aim of engaging all participants in learning how to be effective allies in this larger journey. We will offer various events and opportunities for dialogue that are grounded in such learning.

Second, we would like to be involved in teaching and learning about governance through the project. The Commons governance structure is non-hierarchical and consensus-based. Teams plan and participate in work on the Commons; a monthly coordinating Council, with representation from all teams and interested community members, discusses and shares decision-making when projects have an impact on more than one team. Our governance has itself emerged through discussion and consensus, and is both an important part of the Commons and a valuable example of a way of decision-making that involves everyone in a stewardship role.

Third, we will continue to welcome teachers and students from the school to the property. Many teachers from the school bring students to the Commons for field trips and we certainly expect that to continue. We will extend this welcome to mentors, elders and students from other learning contexts.

Participation in governance

We would like to both share and model a governance structure that attempts to let every voice be heard, and have decisions be made on the basis of consensus emerging as concerns are fully explored. We see this model of governance as being potentially very useful for a project that will combine several community organizations along with academic researchers.

In-kind and/or monetary contributions

As a non-profit organization sustained by community donations and without paid staff, we are not in a position to offer a monetary contribution to the project. As well as the involvement described above, we can make practical/logistical contributions:

1. access to a commercial kitchen
2. access to meeting rooms and outdoor space, including a trail network

Anticipated outcomes

We anticipate several outcomes from the project.

1. We anticipate that children on Gabriola will become more familiar with the Commons, both as a form of making decisions and as a physical place. It is our hope that the children of Gabriola will come to treasure the Commons as much as those involved with it now do, and help to ensure its preservation as a natural, agricultural and cultural space for future generations.
2. We anticipate opportunities to participate meaningfully in the work of reconciliation.
3. We anticipate an opportunity to share our decision-making process with other groups on the island, helping to grow a spirit of cooperation and open discussion that we feel should inform island life.
4. We anticipate opportunities for multi-generational learning opportunities, where children and adults learn, share and explore together.
5. We anticipate opportunities for ecosystem learning and increased eco-literacy for the children as they explore the Commons.

We look forward to learning more about the anticipated research, and participating in it as it unfolds.

Sincerely,

Mary Wilson

Sharing the Commons

Application for projects proposed for the Gabriola Commons

SECTION 1: COMMONS LAND-USE SHARING FORM

A. Applicant: Island Futures Society & Empower Gabriola Co-operative

Date: October 8, 2019

Name: Electric charging stations on the Commons

Contact Information:

Name: Jan Pullinger

Email jan_p@commoncause.ca

Organization: Island Futures Society with Empower Gabriola Co-operative

Brief description of organization or group's activities and focus for this particular project:

Island Futures is a local organization that supports ideas generated through Sustainable Gabriola. It works towards community self-sufficiency, ensuring our social and economic systems provide adequately for a diverse population and that we live in ways that protect and preserve the natural environment that sustains us. As well as purchasing the new camera and pen, Island Futures has played a key role in developing GERTIE, converting used deep-fry oil into clean biodiesel and GLEAN all-purpose soap, the creation of a truck-share co-op, the popular Heat Pump initiative, the Gabriola Green-house Gas Inventory, and the new Gabriola Co-op Network.

Empower Gabriola Co-operative is a Gabriola co-operative dedicated to providing sustainable energy education and alternatives for Gabriolans and to contributing to significant reductions in Gabriola's GHG emissions.

Our vision for this project is to create a network of community-owned charging stations on the island that keeps pace with and encourages the growing use of electric vehicles and e-bikes on our island.

Proposal: to support the installation on the Commons of dual 2 level 240V chargers for electric cars and for electric bicycles.

B. Project: (Describe fully)

The two organizations have agreed to undertake to apply for 50% funding from BC Hydro under the Commercial grant program as well as to provide the 50% matching funds that are required for the installation of the charging station. We propose to install a locked donation box at the site, and ask users to pay at least $1 per EV charge (less for bikes). Part of the donated funds would pay for power used (approx. $.45 per 1 hour charge) and the rest would go towards retiring the loans from Island Futures and Empower Gabriola Co-operative (funding the installation). As we pay off one installation, we will re-loan the funds for another.

Describe how this project will benefit the community See above

Describe as accurately as possible your need for space (facility, land?)

The need for space is less than 1 sq.metre, in the northeast corner of the west parking lot to facilitate hookup to the electrical panel in the goat barn.

What does the project require in infrastructure? (water, sewage treatment, energy?)

Hook-up to the electrical grid.

How will you/ the community access the project? What will be your parking requirements?

Access to the parking space at the electrical charging station

Will space being requested be available for other uses? No

Anticipated number of people using the space: short term numbers 2 at a time

What will be the impact on flora and fauna? n/a

C. Finances

Describe your optimal lease/rental agreement or use-agreement

This would be an equipped space offered to the community at no charge.

The funds donated to the donation box on site will more than cover the cost of electricity for the charging (at $.45 per 1 hour charge). An agreement will be drawn up to define this usage.

What costs might be involved in making the space/facility/land meet your needs?

(perhaps signage)

How will any funding for use of electricity be secured?

Through donations by users into locked box at station.

What do you see as your financial responsibilities? None

The role of the Commons is that of property owner, whose approval is required for the application to BC Hydro for the project.

BC Hydro's grant program requires the applicant to be an "employer".

This could be GERTIE, as an employer with "5 or more than employees" and based on the property.

D. Timeline:

Effective start date? Could be as soon as the application is approved.

Length of time for space use? If this is well used, it could become part of the Commons' sustainability plan.

Section #2 Criteria/Guidelines in evaluating appropriateness of projectA. Does this meet the Charter's goal of sustainable development?

3. How does the project fit within the Infrastructure Team's Green Building Guidelines? (See Web Commons' web site) Charging station for electric vehicles - Yes!
4. Does the proposed project require water, electricity, sewage treatment, parking etc.? It requires hookup to the grid and a dedicated parking space
5. What will be the short term/long term impact of this use on the Commons?
Success will bring appreciation by community

B. Does this fit the Commons concept of community access?

6. How would the Commons benefit? good pr
7. Will others have any access to what you are proposing? Yes
8. What has been the community input, consultation or feedback?
Several Electric charging stations exist elsewhere on the island. The more the better.

C. Are there regulatory issues involved?

1. Is the project within the land use proposal submitted to the ALC? (Web link)
2. Does the project require changes to zoning to proceed? No
3. Are permits required? (Building Permit, Health approvals, etc.)
Applied for by whom? Island Futures and Empower would apply

D. What, if any, renovation or construction planning is required? one meetingE. What financial issues are involved?

1. What costs are involved? None
2. What is the source of our financing this project? None needed.

F. What is the Management plan?

1. How will the site/building be maintained? To be discussed
2. How will you evaluate the success of this agreement on a regular basis?
3. How is the community used planned (booking assistance etc).

Island Futures Society and Empower Gabriola Co-operative would like the Commons to support the addition of dual 2 level 240V chargers for electric cars at the Commons - at no cost to the Commons. We are also exploring the option of combining the electric car chargers with two chargers for bikes.

We would appreciate you taking this through the Commons process. Here's the detail:

Our two organizations have agreed to do the work to apply for 50% funding from BC Hydro under the Commercial grant program as well as to provide the 50% matching funds that are required. We propose to install a locked donation box at the site, and ask users to pay at least $1 per EV charge and less for bikes. Part of the donated funds would pay for power used (45 cents per 1 hr charge, approx.) and the rest would go towards retiring the loans from I.F. and Empower Co-op. Our vision is to create a network of community-owned charging stations on the island that keeps pace with and encourages the growing use of electric vehicles and e-bikes on our island. As we pay off one installation, we will re-loan the funds for another.

What we need from the Commons is its approval, as the property owner, for the installation of these chargers in order for us to apply to B.C. Hydro's grant program. GERTIE can be the employer as it has the '5 or more' employees required to qualify.

We would appreciate a response to our request as quickly as is practical for the Commons so we can proceed with the funding application. We are keen to do this project and want to apply as early as possible before the funding runs out.

Again, there will be no cost to the Commons and our organizations will undertake to do the work of getting the grants and installing the chargers. We would like to work together with GERTIE and the Commons on placement and other issues that arise in the installation process.

Hello Commoners,

I want to bring you in on some Cultivate decisions that the GAC board has recently made. We haven't made this conversation public yet, although we have informed the Cultivate team coordinators and a few other key volunteers.

The members of the GAC board were engaged in numerous long discussions about Cultivate from the moment we heard the final dance beats from Caleb Hart and the Royal Youth late on Sunday evening. After a series of meetings and detailed consideration, a decision was reached about the short- and long-term future of this great event.

In the end, here's what was decided: Organizationally and financially, GAC needs more time to recover and rebuild from Cultivate 2019, and to build up the necessary resources for the next edition. The plan: GAC will work with partner organizations—the Commons being the first and most important—and individuals in the community to offer a new and—imagine it!—improved Cultivate Festival. Our target date is July 2021. Early in the new year we'll be calling together a group of committed people and interested stakeholders to form the Cultivate Festival Steering Committee. In this new plan, this committee—which I hope will include at least a couple of Commons representatives—will have 20 months to create a beautiful, exciting, engaging, community-based celebration of arts and performance.

Just as leaving a field fallow for a year will increase nutrients and vitality, we expect that in a year of lying fallow, the Cultivate Festival will be enriched, healthier, and even better able to support and sustain itself. This committee will be charged with, among other things, ensuring that the high artistic standards of Cultivate are maintained; working respectfully with volunteers and other contributors to ensure that no-one is stretched beyond capacity, and that everyone has the information and tools they need to do a great job; making sure enough financial resources are available to guarantee success; and ensuring that we respect the land on which the festival is held.

One thing was clear throughout the discussions: The festival was an unequivocal success on many important levels, including: hundreds of locals of all ages enjoyed live music and theatre; families hung out with other families; local music and theatre performers had an opportunity to perform in front of enthusiastic audiences; local artists and artisans displayed and sold their work to appreciative browsers and buyers; and local food producers offered tasty meals throughout the weekend.

This success was only possible because of the hard work, vision, experience, and dedication that so many of you brought to the festival—on Cultivate weekend, and for the many weeks and months before. On behalf of the board, and personally as well, I want to send heaps of gratitude and appreciation your way.

The GAC board and staff are disappointed about the gap this will leave in next summer's celebration schedule. But mostly, we're excited about the opportunity to take time to reflect and reorganize, to build resilience for the organization and for everyone involved in making this festival happen, and to work with other organizations—the Commons, of course, and others too—to share responsibility for the long-term success and viability of this important event.

And finally, I want to acknowledge the big artistic vision, deep caring, and inclusive energy that Mitch brought to this event over the past two years. As you all know, this celebration would not have happened in this way without his contribution.

Thanks again, Commoners, for sharing in the success of this beautiful community event. Please let me know if you have questions or concerns. I'm always available to talk. I plan to attend the November Council meeting, and will be happy to answer questions there as well.
